

Luncheon Seminar, Los Angeles

KOREA: THE GATEWAY TO NORTHEAST ASIA

USA/Korea Free Trade Agreement - implications and opportunities.

The Korean government, with the participation of all related ministries and organizations, cordially invites you to a comprehensive lunch seminar on:

Tuesday, November 13th
11:30am – 2:00pm

Welcoming Address:

Kim Chul-Hwan, Head, Korea International Logistics Council, Korea International Trade Association

Congratulatory Address:

US Department of Commerce

Speakers:

Brian K. Peck, Counsel for International Trade & IP, Crowell & Moring LLP

Lee Byoung Hoon, Director, Logistics Team, Planning Office of Free Economic Zone, Ministry of Finance and Economy

H.C Park, General Manager, Pusan Port Authority

Su-Wan Seo, Logistics Advisor, Investment Promotion Headquarters, Incheon Free Economic Zone Authority

Location:

Los Angeles Marriott Downtown

Concourse Ballroom 1+2

333 South Figueroa Street

Los Angeles, CA 90071

Phone: (213) 617 6081

This seminar is offered to you by the Korean government and its partners at no cost.

Please RSVP before Friday November 9th at www.arcusplus.com/registration/LosAngeles.asp or call ARCUSplus at 512-637-1044

USA / Korea Free Trade Agreement

Last April, Korea and the USA signed a Free Trade Agreement. During a series of seminars throughout the USA, the Korea International Logistics Council (KILC) intends to inform American companies on the implications of this FTA, and how they may benefit from it. Trade cargo volumes between our two countries are now expected to increase, and the number of opportunities of using Korea as a logistics hub to the Northeast Asian region will grow considerably over the next years.

Who Should Attend

Individuals, institutions and companies with professional or academic interests in the Northeast Asian region, i.e. American corporations with clients or operations in the region, or the ambition to do business there; logistics professionals, trade and international business consultants, importers/exporters; bankers; international trade attorneys and any other professional engaged in global trade.

Topics

Major topics of discussion will include: Progress on the Korean logistics hub plan; the Free Trade Zones in Busan, Incheon and Gwangyang; and connections between Korean ports, airports and hinterland. This is an excellent opportunity for American companies to acquaint themselves with the Korean Logistics Hub, and to meet one-on-one with qualified government officials who are able to help companies do business or establish operations in Korea.

Supporting partners:

Korea International Logistics Council (KILC)

KILC provides guidance and assistance to foreign companies interested in establishing, developing or expanding its logistics base in Korea, aiming for the Northeast Asian Market. KILC offers a full range of services including investment consulting, business matchmaking, organization of trade and investment missions, and fact finding trips. These services are free of charge, confidentiality is guaranteed.

Supporting partners of KILC are the Korean Ministry of Finance and Economy, the Korean Ministry of Commerce, Industry and Energy, the Korean Ministry of Construction and Transportation, the Korean Ministry of Maritime Affairs and Fisheries, KITA, KOTRA, the Busan-Jinhae Free Economic Zone Authority, the Incheon Free Economic Zone Authority, the Gwangyang Free Economic Zone Authority, the Busan Port Authority, Port Authority and Incheon International Airport Corporation.

Korea International Logistics Council

Korea International Trade Association